CATHEDRAL SERVICES.

Masses at 8 and 11 o'clock on Sundays. High mass at 11 o'clock, with sermon. Sunday school at 9:30. Vespers and Benediction at 7:30 p. m. Week day mass at 7:30 a. m. Mass is celebrated Sundays at St. Patrick's church, Fourth South, between Third and Fourth West, at 10 o'clock on Sunday. Meetings of cathedral parish during the month are: Promoters of the Sacred Heart League, the last Sunday of each month; the Altar society every first Monday of the month; St. Ann's sewing society every Monday at 2 o'clock. Choir rehearsal for cathedral choir Friday nights at 8 o'clock; Junior choir every Saturday at 3:30; and St. Cecilia chorus every Sunday at 9:30.

CATHEDRAL NOTES.

The Junior choir will have rehearsal on Saturday at 3 o'clock. The St. Cecilia chorus will practice Sunday at 9:30. Miss Ruby Daniels will be the soloist at Vespers on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

During this month the Rosary devotions are said every evening at 7:30. On Wednesday and Friday. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is given. Rev. Father Andrew Ryan celebrated mass in Bingham last Sunday.

Services were held at the Utah state penitentiary last Sunday. Miss Grace Sullivan had charge of the music. Edward Hugh McLean, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLean of Kenilworth, Utah, was christened by Rev. Father Collins at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnstone of 722 East Fourth South street, Sunday. The christening was followed by a dinner, at which covers were laid for nine.

Next month is devoted to the Holy Souls. Nov. 1 will be the feast of All Saints. Nov. 2 will be the feast of All Souls. George Soffe will sing an "O Salutaris" by Marzio, at the 11 o'clock mass on Sunday.

The St. Mary's Alumnae will have the annual banquet on Nov. 7, at St. Mary's.

St. Mary's Academy.

The Knights of Columbus have recently given expression to their interest in the cause of education by the foundation of a reward to be bestowed on the student of St. Mary's who distinguishes herself by her efforts for intellectual advancement and ladylike deportment. Their appreciation of the work accomplished in the academy is but an earnest of the part the knights take in all that is calculated to further the interests of religion, society and the home. To the students at the academy this generous thoughtfulness will be an incentive to greater efforts, while the sisters hail it as a sympathetic encouragement in their life's labor of love.

Knights of Columbus.

Sunday, the 25th, will be one of those great days in the history of Salt Lake council, when thirty-five candidates will be conducted through the mysteries of the first, second and third degrees of that great order. A special meeting of the council will be held at 1 p. m. in the Jennings block, and the degrees will be exemplified immediately following. The boys will dine after knighthood has been conferred upon the candidates. All Knights of Columbus are invited to attend.

A "social" will be given by the council on Friday evening next in Unity hall, Second East street. An excellent committee has the affair in hand, and it promises to be the best social event of the season. At the meeting of the council last Tuesday, steps were taken toward the building of a K. of C. home in this city. The move has been rightly made, and from now on all members will be energetically working and boosting the home proposition.

Is not the word "home" the dearest of all? Nations may differ in customs, religions and languages, but the love of this one thought establishes a kinship throughout the world. Within it dwells the hope of youth, the pride of manhood, and the peace of declining years. It is the bright light of every child and the aim of every parent.

We build houses of such solidity, attractiveness and surroundings as give to the word "home" its fullest expression.

Our representatives will gladly answer questions and fully explain our plan by which you may live in your own home while paying for it, and after final payment you own your home and have saved the rent for yourself instead of your landlord. SALT LAKE SECURITY & TRUST COMPANY, 34 Up, Main Street.

An investment which you cannot personally investigate should be carefully avoided. You cannot afford to take the advice or opinions of persons who are interested in selling stock in some far off scheme. This company in offering to you its six per cent secured certificates of deposit affords a safe investment opportunity right here at home, where you can investigate yourself.

SEAT SALE TOMORROW.

Seats for "The Clansman" May All Be Sold Out Before the Date of the Performance.

The seat sale for "The Clansman" at the Salt Lake theatre, beginning next Thursday evening, begins at the box office tomorrow morning, and judging by the talk around town the entire house is likely to be sold out before the date of the performance. Never before has the announcement of a play enlisted such widespread local interest. Not only the regular theatre-goers, but business men, politicians, church members—in fact, every thinking citizen is eager to see "The Clansman" and judge its merits. From coast to coast "The Clansman" has been advertised as the great white man's play. While not hostile to the negro or to the yellow or brown races, it sets forth the natural superiority of the white race. In view of the yellow peril, and the other momentous problems facing the American people, its significance is tremendous. But, though written by a former eminent divine of the Baptist church, "The Clansman" is not a sermon. Its aim is to please, and it has delighted every audience with its story of reconstruction days in the south and the work of the Ku-Klux Klan. Nearly 4,000,000 people have witnessed "The Clansman." New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other large cities have stamped it with their approval. Unquestionably "The Clansman" is the play of the hour, and those who miss it will deprive themselves both of an aesthetic pleasure and a new insight into the form and pressure of the time.

BINGHAM.

Miss May O'Neil, teacher at the Galtens, visited Thursday and Friday at Sandy and the Junction schools. Mayor Thomas Quillen was in Zion Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

PARK CITY.

Mrs. Lubec and daughters, Misses Mollie and Viola, returned home Sunday after a short visit in Salt Lake. John Kelly arrived in Park City Wednesday, after an extended visit at his home in Ireland.

Mrs. P. S. Tallon returned home Monday after attending the fair.

A number of ladies planned a delightful surprise party on the Knights of Columbus after their regular lodge meeting on Monday night at the Miners' Union hall. Dancing was the feature of the evening. A most delicious lunch was served, and all pronounced it a success.

Intermountain Catholic Office Moved.

The Intermountain Catholic has removed its office from the Atlas block to the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co. building, 32-34 Main street, suite 316. The increase in business requires larger and more spacious offices. For this reason it was necessary to engage a suite of rooms where all the employees could have ample room and the business department be properly handled. Bell phone 4897.

J. J. Devine, the jeweler, is located temporarily at 44 South Main street.

OBITUARY.

Olson.

Solomon Olson, familiarly and fondly known as "Sol" by the printing fraternity of Salt Lake, died in St. Mark's hospital last week from heart failure, after two weeks' illness. He was 32 years of age, a native of Boone, Ia., and had lived here the past three years. His demise has caused deep sorrow among the circle of newspaper friends by whom he was universally loved and admired. He was of a gentle, retiring nature, and his friends ever found him steadfast and true—a man of sterling worth and upright character.

Until three weeks ago Mr. Olson was apparently in the best of health. He complained of pains in the region of his heart then, and was immediately taken to the hospital for an operation. He sank rapidly despite all medical assistance.

Mr. Olson had been foreman of the advertising department of the Herald for the past two years, and was a competent and efficient printer. He was formerly connected with the Century Publishing company. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Olson of Boone, and one sister, Ellen Olson of Kansas City.

His body was shipped to his old home in Boone, Ia., accompanied by his roommate, Parley Adams.

Fitzpatrick.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to Mrs. Harry Fitzpatrick, whose husband died on Oct. 18. The funeral services were held last Saturday from St. Mary's cathedral. The deceased was a well known mining man, whose many good qualities won for him many devoted friends.

Mellon.

It was with deep grief that the many friends of James Mellon heard of his death which occurred on Monday, after an illness of nearly two years. His funeral occurred on Wednesday morning from St. Mary's cathedral. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Andrew Ryan, who also preached the sermon. The pall-bearers were Thomas J. O'Brien, John P. Manning, A. J. Breneau, Edward McGurran, Thomas Marneau and William L. Duffy.

The deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved young wife and her little children, who will surely mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father. No truer, better Christian man never lived than "Jim" Mellon. A loyal Catholic, an honest Christian, kindly, charitable, he was lovable in every way. He was a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus, who attended his funeral in a body. May his soul rest in peace, and his last sleep be as calm as his life was good and true!

Brennan.

The funeral of Lucille Brennan took place last week from St. Mary's cathedral. Rev. Father W. K. Ryan officiated, and paid a beautiful tribute to the saintly little girl. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brennan, and died very suddenly of acute appendicitis. She was a lovable little girl, only 15 years of age, and the grief of her parents is bitter.

Lucille Brennan.

touching incidents of her funeral was the attendance of all her classmates, numbering over fifty. The floral offerings were exquisite, and the music by St. Cecilia chorus, with Ruby Daniels soloist, was very touching. The deepest sympathy is extended to the sorrowing parents, whose only consolation is that their dear little daughter went to God in all the innocent sweetness of her girlhood. Surely a more spotless soul ever existed than that of Lucille Brennan. May she rest in peace!

Loftis.

Touching indeed were the funerals of the two Denver & Rio Grande engineers, Thomas Jefferson Loftis and George W. McAleer, who were killed in the freight wreck at Oliver's siding, twenty miles south of Salt Lake City, Wednesday morning, shortly after 2 o'clock, which took place Sunday afternoon.

Hundreds of sorrowing relatives and friends gathered to pay a last tribute to the men who, through a slight error, had given up their lives at their posts of duty.

In a steady downpour of rain many went to the cemetery to see their friends and comrades laid in their final resting place. The funeral of Thomas Jefferson Loftis took place from the Masonic temple, at First and Second East streets, at 1 o'clock, the chapel of the temple being crowded to the doors.

Rev. Daniel M. Helmick, pastor of St. Mary's cathedral, gave a fitting eulogy, and Rev. Louis S. Powerman, pastor of the East Side Baptist church, gave the prayer. The quartette from the East Side Baptist church gave the selections "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "My Jesus as Will." The men to bear the body of their dead friend were C. E. Sherman, H. W. Anderson, C. E. Ives, Edward Connor, J. T. Beless and J. G. Bywater.

Caulfield.

The funeral of Andrew Caulfield, the Bingham miner, took place recently from St. Mary's cathedral, and was attended by many friends. Rev. W. K. Ryan celebrated the mass and paid a beautiful tribute to the life and worth of the deceased.

McAleer.

The funeral of George W. McAleer took place from the funeral chapel of O'Donnell & Co., and was so largely attended that many could not gain admittance.

Following out a request of Mrs. McAleer, J. G. Bywater, chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers, gave a short testimonial talk telling of the life of the dead man as known to his fellow-workmen, and giving words of condolence to sorrowing relatives and friends.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Peter A. Simpkin, pastor of the Phillips Congregational church, who also pronounced a short eulogy and expressed sympathy for those left behind.

There was beautiful music by a selected quartette in charge of Miss Nora Gleason. To show the love and respect that Mr. McAleer always expressed for his native state, Maryland, an orchestra was present, and as the body was borne from the chapel it gave the selection "Maryland, My Maryland."

Two funeral cars and many carriages carried relatives and friends to the grave in Mt. Olivet cemetery, where burial took place. The pall-bearers were Thomas Lamplugh, Edward Piper, Charles Dickerman, J. A. Daly and E. O. H. Johnson.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank the many friends who were so kind to us during the period of our bereavement, and we have not better means of extending our thanks than through the columns of the Intermountain Catholic, for it is manifestly impossible for us personally to address all of them.

Mrs. James Mellon and Family.

KEMMERER, WYO.

A quiet home wedding was that which took place at 7 a. m. Thursday, Oct. 15 last, at the home of Hon. and Mrs. J. W. Sammon, when their daughter Nora was married to Lewis Gmel Jones, Father T. J. Barrett officiated, while M. Hayes was groomsmen and Miss Edna Sammon bridesmaid. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, which was participated in by those who witnessed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jones departed on No. 6 for a ten-day's visit in Cheyenne. Cards are out announcing that they will be at home in Kemmerer after Oct. 25.

OGDEN, UTAH.

(Special Correspondence.)
Dr. W. G. Friday has returned from the east after a two weeks' trip.
Mrs. G. B. Roberts has returned from a visit in Omaha.
The eight-hour day has now gone into effect at the postoffice, after much discussion.
Mrs. Sullivan is now rapidly improving.

MARGARET MILLER, '06.
Sacred Heart Academy.

Sacred Heart Academy.

Like many an old saying, oft quoted, but seldom realized, people are frequently heard repeating "It is an ill wind that blows good to no one." With truth did the inmates of Sacred Heart academy so declare last Sunday morning, for a windstorm, though usually dreaded, last in this case some of its unpleasantness when it was announced that owing to particularly unfavorable conditions of the atmosphere the pupils and members of the faculty would not be obliged to go down to St. Joseph's church to attend mass. Rev. P. M. Cushman, celebrating at 7:30 in the academy chapel. The usual Sunday school classes were also dismissed.

Tuesday morning last the senior and junior classes gave evidence of the good work done during the past weeks. In one line of study at least. A very interesting review in geology occupied the attention of all present and proved the earnestness and ability of the young participants.

The classes in English are regretting the early advent of the snow, for they had partially succeeded in veiling the muse of autumn tide with her gorgeous tints of hill and mountain. Mental pictures must now take the place of nature's colors and serve for inspiration.

Fallowen shadows are already falling and some speak of lanterns, says that Sacred Heart girls will have a jolly time All Saints' eve. The committee on arrangements is a guarantee of pleasure, and plans have been laid so long that we are confident they have been laid well.

The eloquent tribute paid last June by Judge Howell to the loyalty and devotion of the graduates of Sacred Heart was not, we feel, undeserved. Their short yet heartfelt visits prove their interest in the home, as many of them love to call the academy.

With special pleasure we recently greeted Miss Edith Keisel, '05, who has been spending some time in Denver, where she intends to return, to the regret of her many Ogden friends, who will miss her in social circles, and especially at the annual alumnae banquet at the academy. Mrs. Edith Hock, McLean, '08, now a resident of Oregon City, but at present spending some time in Ogden, also evinces her loyalty about matter, where she is lovingly remembered by old teachers, who always hail with delight a visit from her and her interesting little daughter, Edith Jeanette.

The Open Road.

Out past the bars of Square and Place, And streets where tollers bear their load, Past all the hurrying populace There runs the Open Road.

How white its ribbon measures out The sun-baked acres round the town! How hoarse the People's empty shout Behind us travels down!

They fret, but we, with scrip and staff, Take pilgrims' way some dusty eve, Behind the People's snarl and laugh, Over the toys we leave.

Beyond us lies the healthy hill, Lone valleys where the brown streams meet, The low-roofed cot, the turning mill, The waving plains of wheat.

Before us still the wide skies arch, The primrose West with rose is strewn, And shadowy cloud-battalions march Across its solitude.

The wild flower clusters brighter 'twine, The wild bird's note more clearly rings, And from the shade of beech and pine Look forth the forest things.

But far behind, through dusty days The People fret against their bars, And set no foot in open ways, Nor eye the evening stars.

And some have paused by purple slope To hear the echo of their sighs, Turned back to bring the People hope, And tolled to make them wise.

For air and the blue heaven are free (Say they), and peace is not for few, And these must share, as well as we, The stars and morning dew.

These must come forth with pilgrim song, With light-winged scrip and strengthening rod, For unto all the roads belong.

And the straight path of God, —Maud Goldring, in London Spectator.
